Good afternoon,

Welcome back to the SEAH Stadium for today's league game against Loughborough Lightning.

We've had two tough long distance away games since our last game here when we beat Sporting Khalsa 4-1 under the lights in the league, and it's great to be back on home turf.

We know Halifax is always a tough place to go and I was really pleased with our performance there and the way we earned the three points.

Then last week we turned our attention to the League Cup and a team we hadn't faced before in AFC Sudbury. It's always good to be tested against a new side and I thought the girls did well after a long, arduous journey. It was a tough surface to play on, but I was delighted with the three goals and the clean sheet.

It was brilliant to see Anna Grey back on the pitch, Anna Morphet has been racking up the minutes, and last Sunday saw Milly Robertson play her first 90 minutes in a long time. It shows the strength in the squad and gives me a selection headache I'm delighted to have.

Last week's win sets us up for our first Black Country derby of the season as we'll be meeting West Bromwich Albion in the quarter-final here at the SEAH Stadium on 11th January. I know we'll be looking forward to that one.

And this Friday we have our highly anticipated FA Cup second round game here against Stoke City under the lights, which is being shown live on TV for the first time in Wolves history. We want to see as many supporters down here as possible, making lots of noise and creating a great atmosphere. It will be a tough game and a very special occasion.

I'm so proud of what this team has achieved so far this season - still unbeaten in all competitions, and I was delighted to be nominated as Manager of the Month for October. As I always say, it's not just myself, there's a whole team behind me, both on the pitch and off it, and we're all working really hard. A big thank you to our brilliant fans too - we really appreciate your continued support.

So now full focus is on this afternoon's game. Loughborough picked up a good point on the road last week against Stoke and I know it will be a tough game with them fighting at the bottom of the table.

Enjoy the game.

Loughborough Lightning

One of the younger teams in the FA Women's National League, Loughborough Lightning do have history in the competition. The team was formed in the summer of 2021 through the merging of Loughborough Foxes and Loughborough University who had both featured in the league over the previous years.

Loughborough Foxes were formed in 1999 as Shepshed Foxes, becoming Loughborough Foxes in 2002 and worked their way through the local leagues before arriving in the then Premier League in 2014. They captured the Midlands Division One title that first season but found the Northern Division the following season a tad more difficult and suffered relegation. However, they quickly regained a spot in tier three where they remained.

The university team has been active for a number of years, playing in the British Universities and Colleges Sports League. Their players were also encouraged to play outside of their studies for other teams.

The Foxes and the university had worked together for a number of years, however, in the summer of 2021 they formally merged and became Loughborough Lightning, taking over the Northern Division spot of the Foxes.

Their first season was a transitional one for the club, and whilst they struggled somewhat, they did enough to secure Northern Division football for the next term.

The 2022/23 season, however, was a poor one and they went winless throughout the league campaign and were relegated with only three points.

They swiftly recovered the next season and headed the Midlands Division One table for most of the season, only to lose out on goal difference to Sporting Khalsa in the final weeks. Undeterred last season they went unbeaten and carried off the league title by a clear eight points.

FIRST THING

The first thing I always do is wake up, get dressed and brush my teeth! But seriously, I'm not really a good in the morning person. I'm one of those people that gets everything ready the night before. I don't really trust my memory to remember everything, so the easier I can make the morning the better.

FOOD AND DRINK

It's pretty similar every time. If it's a home game, we get the breakfast provided and it's always a good old classic beans and scrambled egg on toast. If it's an away game, I'd probably just choose something depending on how I feel that day. I would have some porridge or a bagel with banana and honey, which I quite like. But the other day I had some sweet potato ahead of an evening game and that really hit the spot.

TALKING A GOOD GAME

It varies really. At home games, we all have our same seats at the tables for breakfast, and I'm on one with the likes of KJ [Katie Johnson], Jade Cross, Beth Merrick and Milly Robertson, who has signed recently, has come and joined our table, which is nice. Then for away games, if we're meeting at Compton and getting on the bus, it's whoever you see first. I don't have much in the way of routine. KJ and I might have a short pre-match chat, but that's just more as mates, rather than about the game.

ON THE HEADPHONES

I don't really listen to music on the way into games. I would normally just listen to what's been put on in the changing room. I have to admit that Robbo [Beth Roberts] is a good DJ. I like a bit of Avicii or Macklemore or Eminem, but I'm quite happy to go with whatever's on in the changing room or whatever the girls put on the speaker on the bus. They normally have a good few tunes to choose from, so as long as it's upbeat and gets you ready for the game – because it's very chilled up until the game, so that's when you need to get in the zone – then I'm happy and I'm easy.

BUS BUDDIES

Similar to how we all have our tables at home games, when we go away on the bus we're usually in the same seats – maybe we're all just creatures of habit! I'm usually next to Robbo on a table with Amber [Hughes] and Thommo [Bec Thomas]. But as the journey goes on, you might get a bit of floating about and chat with other people, but I think most of us gravitate towards the same place every time. Normally we're all quite chill and we'll sit and chat. For the longer journeys we might download something to watch, but I think I need to remember to take some card games a bit more often as they're always good to fill the time.

AT THE GROUND

Usually I just go and take a look at the pitch and just get a feel for it. We're quite a chilled group so the changing room is quite relaxed and we'll be having a chat and getting each other ready, while letting the others get on if they have certain routines. I'm not too strict in anything I do, but I always put my right boot on first and then my left, which has got to be tight. I think that's because I'm going to use it more often – I rarely use my right! Then before the game, we just kick the ball about before we go into a proper warm-up.

GAME MODE

For the group, music is the big one to get them in game mode, but for me, I'm quite chilled. The time after the warm-up is where everyone switches on and gets in the mood and gets focused. I just want to keep the tempo of the warm-up high, make sure everyone is feeling good, keep everyone feeling relaxed, and a good atmosphere in the changing room, so as soon as we step out onto the pitch, we're going to give 100%. As captain, I obviously focus on what I'm going to do in my job, but I like to make sure others are also at their best. But we have a good group and there's all sorts of different leaders and different people who ensure everyone is looking out for each other.

POST-MATCH PLANS

After the game finishes, the first thing we'll always do is clap the fans and go over to them to show our appreciation. We'll take pictures and say thank you to them because they've been brilliant for us this season, as they are every year. Then if we've had a big win or an important win, there'll be a bit of dancing in the changing room, we'll get some good music on, then after we get to the post-match food. At away games, we'll see what's on offer to us, but the best Sundays are when I get home and my dad has decided to do a roast. That really is the cherry on top. I think the ideal post-match scan every week would be a roast, but that's only on special occasions.

SWITCHING OFF

I'm not the type of person who can immediately move on when a game finishes and after every match I always have a quick post-match debrief with my mum, then when I get home, a bit of a more in-depth one with my dad, where we just chat about the game. But once I wake up the next morning and have to go to work, it forces me to move on from it and that switches my mindset. With football, you have to be able to switch off from it, and usually by the time Sunday evening comes, I'll be pretty chilled out again and ready to go to work on Monday and not dwell on things.
